Autumn timetable changes

Our preparation for the leaf-fall season and planned timetable changes for when bad weather is forecast.

8 October to 9 December

To help keep trains run to schedule, additional time of a few minutes has been added to some services to give you greater certainty about how long your journey will take.

This timetable leaflet shows the changes that we have made to timetable book 3 – Full replacement pages are shown. This leaflet should be read in conjunction with timetable book 3.

Where we've made changes to train times (or a connecting train time) these services are highlighted in ORANGE.

All other train times/pages remain unchanged for this route and can be found in timetable book 3 dated 21 May to 30 December 2017.

Why are train times changing because of leaf-fall?

Fallen leaves on the line become compressed by passing trains, creating a slippery, resin-like substance which is difficult to remove.

This leaf mulch creates conditions similar to black ice on roads which means our drivers must adapt their driving techniques to these conditions which can impact on journey times.

The leaf mulch also blocks the power supply in the third rail, meaning the trains can't draw sufficient power to move at normal speed.

What is being done?

Network Rail works hard to cut back tree branches and plants along the trackside and has specialist vehicles to keep the tracks clear during autumn "leaf-fall" period. However, despite their best efforts, in wet, cold and frosty weather conditions it is inevitable that problems will still be experienced.

Leaves on the line are a real problem for the rail industry and together with Network Rail we work behind the scenes to keep running a punctual service you can rely on.

What does it mean to me?

To help keep trains running to schedule, additional time of a few minutes has been added to some services to give you greater certainty about how long your journey will take.
